Introduction

Parramatta Library and Community Hub, PHIVE, was born to be architectural icon. It started with an international design competition in 2016 to find a civic and community „centrepiece” for Parramatta Square. PHIVE is Parramatta’s new library, community, cultural and civic hub, located in the heart of Parramatta’s Central Business District.<sup>1</sup> It is a space to learn, be inspired and explore something new. A space to connect with the community and find local services. A space to meet, collaborate and do business. And a space to immerse yourself in cultural experiences or enjoy a bite to eat.

Parramatta Library<sup>2</sup>

„With views overlooking Parramatta Square, a coffee from our café on ground floor and more than 65,000 books to explore, you’ll want to sit, read or study all day!”<sup>3</sup>

is a 21st-century smart building. Its cutting-edge design and construction have been awarded a 6 Star Green Star rating – the highest rating – as certified by the Green Building Council of Australia.<sup>4</sup> With design principles focussed on environmental performance, this world leading building has a low reliance on traditional heating and cooling methods. Solar collectors on the roof generate power, heating and hot water, while the unique design allows for water harvesting.

Giant louvres respond to weather conditions, such as heat, wind and humidity, and automatically open to fill the building with fresh air and natural light as needed. The system is linked to the Bureau of Meteorology and two local weather sensors to ensure optimal operation.

Parramatta Library also offers healthy, safe spaces for visitors thanks to its unique smart mixed-mode ventilation system. Inside the building, some of Parramatta Library's smart features include:

- An automated library book-sorting machine
- Self-checkout kiosks and self-return library shelves
- Smart furniture with in-built power and data charging points for visitors
- LED lighting, minimal use of PVC
- Gearless lifts with regenerative drives
- Dual water systems for non-drinking water uses (i.e. flushing and irrigation) to facilitate future connection to a recycled water network

Apart from the books and reading space, Parramatta Library run many programs for the community – 7-days story time for kids and toddlers, sewing sessions, 3D printing, 3D pen workshop, Needle nook, knitting and cross stitch sessions, VR sessions for kids and adults, computer technology classes in English and other languages and English Conversation classes, to name the few.

The City of Parramatta has a new meeting place overlooking Parramatta Square – and it is right here at PHIVE. The new Council Chambers are where the future of our region will be shaped. The purpose-built Council Chambers are crafted from locally sourced timber, and contain state-of-the-art voting technology and live streaming facilities to make Council meetings accessible to all.<sup>5</sup>

Architecture

Parramatta Library and Community Hub @ PHIVE is an architectural icon, with a bold design by award-winning French architect Manuelle Gautrand, in partnership with Australian architecture firms Lacoste + Stevenson and DesignInc and constructed by Australian group Built. It is bold red roof can be seen peeking through the city towers. It is a truly smart building, with sustainability credentials allowing it to be net zero carbon from day one.<sup>6</sup>

Gautrand is internationally renowned and was the winner of the acclaimed 2017 European Prize for Architecture. Some of her prestigious international designs include Citroën's Flagship Showroom on the Champs-Élysées in Paris, and Louis Vuitton Maison in Seoul, South Korea. PHIVE is Gautrand's first Australian commission.

The building is sculptural in design, with more than 549 unique tessellated panels in five native flora-inspired colours gracing the building's façade. The roof sits on a series of stacked, fragmented crystalline blocks designed to follow the sun and provide natural light throughout. Giant louvres respond to weather conditions and automatically open to fill the building with fresh air. It is a truly smart building.

The design delivers permeability through the building with the use of voids, linking stairs and transparent materials, to create a welcoming, open and expressive building.

Parramatta is home to a rich Indigenous history, a rapidly growing population, and a diverse mosaic of residents. Parramatta Library &

What the judges said:

„PHIVE is a civic standout whose mark is made equally by its comprehensive services and striking architectural addition to the built landscape. The multi-storey structure’s vibrant external envelope comprises hundreds of powder-coated folds, which open successively to the west and the east, to the adjacent public square and the sky. Shading the interior from the sun’s heat while also allowing natural light in, the pattern of solid and open elements is eye-catching for the spectrum of red and tangerine hues that colour its geometric filigree. This vivid exoskeleton creates a dazzling play across the vast, curved sweep of the roof. It is an outstanding concept, boldly executed, and an invaluable contribution to the typology and context”<sup>11</sup>
